Origins of Adventist Work in Conference Territory

The first missionaries in this territory established themselves in Bucaramanga. In 1950 copies of the El Centinela magazine arrived in Barrancabermeja from the city of Barranquilla via the Magdalena River. Missionaries used these copies to spread the gospel throughout the territory.

The work of the church in this region began to spread and grow. In 1985 East Colombian Conference was organized in the region and reorganized in 2008.³ In 2016 the existing conference territory was reorganized, and the East Central Colombian Conference was established.⁴

The Conference Fulfills its Mission by:

Practicing revival and reformation in all areas of church life.

Making each member a disciple committed to the mission.

Integrating and managing all resources wisely for the development of missionary work.

Preparing each church home to look forward to the coming of the Lord in glory.

Making each family a missionary family.

Ensuring by God's grace that each household lives in a balanced, healthy, joyful way.

Extending arms of service to the community to win many for the kingdom of heaven.

Consolidating the development of churches and schools to better serve the community.

During the beginning years of the conference much has been accomplished to help the church's missionary work. Pastors receive constant training to improve their knowledge so they might better serve the members and support church work. Laity and leaders have obtained certification from Andrews University in health and temperance, homiletics, home and family, leadership, and church planting. Church elders also receive ongoing training. Women are prepared for leadership roles, preaching, and soul-winning evangelism. Youth receive attention through the Adventurer, Pathfinder, and Master Guide clubs and through annual camps. Children and adolescents are intentionally served through the program, La Mochila que Habla Sola, which teaches Christian values and principles.

The conference headquarters was moved to a new building to better care for the members, promote church growth, and serve the community. Training and awareness of Adventist philosophy for worship and a healthy and comprehensive lifestyle are emphasized. Training teachers is a priority in conferences with continuing education provided by special guests such as Rector Ismael Castillo of Montemorelos University.
