Origin of Seventh-day Adventist Work in the Territory

The present-day Ukrainian oblasts that form the Bukovinskaya Conference cover territory of several defunct administrative units that belonged to different countries: The easternmost part of Galicia, northern Bukovina, the northern tip of Bessarabia, a sliver of Romania, and parts of the Podolia and Volhynia governorates of the Russian Empire. The church units that covered the territory of the Bukovinskaya Conference before Ukraine disappeared from the Yearbook during most of the Soviet Era were the North Moldavian Conference (North Bessarabia and Bukovina), the Podolian Conference (Podolia), the South Polish Conference (Eastern Galicia), and the Volhynian Conference (Volhynia). For the origin of Adventist work in the territory of the Bukovinskaya Conference, see the articles on those church units and their predecessors.

Organizational History

In 1967, 1978, and 1981, Ukrainian church units were organized, all called districts. They first appeared in the Yearbook in 1982, after decades of no reports from Ukraine due to communism. They were listed under the Association of Seventh-day Adventists in the Ukrainian SSR (since 1990, the Ukrainian Union Conference)² One of those organized in 1978 was the Chernovskaya District, comprising the Chernovskaya region. Headquarters were located at ul. Karmeluka 34, Chernovskaya. Members in 1982 were 3,082. No initial officers were listed, only Senior Pastor F. I. Andreychuk.³

In 1990 all the Ukrainian districts became conferences, so the Chernovskaya District became the Chernovskaya Conference.⁴ Headquarters were still located at ul. Karmeluka 34, Chernovskaya.⁵ The initial membership was 3,400.⁶ The initial officers were President F. I. Andreichuk, Secretary A. A. Ponomarev, and Treasurer I. T. Yakubchak⁷

In 1992 Rudy Skorets, an American-Ukrainian evangelist, came to Chernovtsy to conduct an evangelistic program at the Olga Kobylanskaya Theater. The theater was crowded and could not accommodate all who wanted to attend. After the program, 367 people were baptized, and a new local church was organized for the new believers. It later merged with the Chernovtsy Church at Ukrainian Street 3.⁸

Since its formation, the Chernovtsy Conference has added two regions to its territory from the West Ukraine Conference. In 1994 it annexed the Ternopol region,⁹ and changed its name to the Bukovinskaya Conference.¹⁰ It added the Ivano-Frankovsk Region in 2003.¹¹

The Conference headquarters has always been in Chernovskaya, but has moved many times. In 1992, it was listed at ul. Ukrainskaya 3,¹² in 1995 at ul. Teketskaya 10¹³ (and, unless it was located on three different streets in building no. 10, this street was also spelled as Turgenevskaya¹⁴ and Turetskayka¹⁵), in 1998 at Ukrainskaya Street 3,¹⁶ in 2003 again at Turetskaya Street 10,¹⁷ in 2007 at Korostyshevskaya Street 6A,¹⁸ and in 2015 yet again at Turetska 10.¹⁹

Over the course of twenty years, membership climbed from about 3,000 to more than 7,000 in 2002. Since then, membership has slowly but steadily declined.²⁰
